SKETCH OF THE HISTORY OF THE LIBRARY.

The first action taken in the direction of providing a Reading-room and Library in Christchurch was at a public meeting, held at the Oddfellows' Hall, Lichfield Street, on the 26th May, 1859, to take into consideration the best means of establishing a Mechanics' Institute. At a subsequent meeting held on the 9th June, 1859, trustees and officers were appointed, together with a committee. Certain rules were adopted for the working of the institution, and the committee was instructed to secure a site and building as soon as possible. The Institute was formally opened on the 4th of August, 1859. In the original plan of the city as laid out by the founders of the province, a valuable site had been reserved for the purpose of a Mechanics' Institute. A petition was presented to His Honor the Superintendent, praying for a site of ground upon which to erect a building for the use of the Institute. The Provincial Government, on the 29th May, 1861, agreed to offer a sum of money in lieu of a site for the Institute. The committee of the Institute purchased half-an-acre of land, being Sections Nos. 405 and 406, on the east side of the River Avon, fronting on Hereford Street and Cambridge Terrace, for the sum of £262 10s. The committee recommended that funds for a building should be raised by shares and subscriptions, the amount of the shares to be £5. Subsequently on the 10th December, 1862, the funds at the disposal of the committee were reported to be as follows: 130 shares, subscribed, at £5, £650; Government grant, £500: total, £1,150.

Out of this amount £265 had been paid for the building-site, leaving a balance of £885. A recommendation was made that the sum of £800 be expended in finishing a portion of the main building, sufficient for immediate use. Eventually a tender was accepted at a total cost of £1,169. In February, 1868, the name of the institution was changed to that of the "Christchurch Literary Institute." On the 30th July, 1873, the Committee of the Institute met the Library Committee of the Board of Governors of Canterbury College. It was resolved that application be made to the Superintendent to introduce, and carry through the House of Assembly, a Bill giving powers to the Committee of the Literary Institute to transfer the property of the Institute to the Superintendent of the Province of Canterbury, for the purposes of a public circulating library and reading-room. On the 15th December, 1873, the Trustees of the Christchurch Literary Institute conveyed the half-acre of land at the corner of Hereford Street and Cambridge Terrace, with all buildings thereon, together with the books, furniture, chattels, and effects, to the Superintendent of Canterbury, "upon trust for the purpose of a public library, to be established and maintained under and in pursuance of the provisions of 'The Canterbury Museum and Library Ordinance, 1870,' subject nevertheless to the conditions expressed of and concerning the same—that is to say, that a reading-room and circulating library of at least equal dimensions, both as regards space and number of books and periodicals to those conveyed and assigned, shall be constantly maintained in the said buildings, or in any new buildings to be erected upon the said land in the place of the existing buildings, and that such books and periodicals shall from time to time be supplemented and increased, so as to satisfy future requirements, and generally the institution maintained in accordance with the usual and recognised standard of a public circulating library and reading-room; provided always that the Superintendent and his successors, or other the acting trustees of the institution continue to exercise the discretion enjoyed by the present management, of determining upon the books which shall be retained solely for reference; and that the advantages of such reading-room shall be opened to the public free of charge, and that the advantages of the circulating library shall be open to the public either free of charge, at the discretion of the management, or at charges not greater than the charges following—that is to say, 20s. per annum, payable either yearly, half-yearly, or quarterly, in advance." The Superintendent gave the control of the Library to the Board of Governors of Canterbury College in the year 1873. A contract was entered into by the Provincial Government in 1875 for the construction of a new wing to the Library. In 1876 the Provincial Council Library, consisting of 1,212 volumes, was transferred to the Public Library. His Excellency the Governor, in whom all public property was vested by the Abolition Act of 1876, conveyed by deed, bearing date, 25th July, 1878, the Public Library to the Board of Governors of the Canterbury College.

Before the control of the Public Library was transferred to the Board of Governors, a public subscription was got up for the purchase of books for the institution. The amount collected was £545 19s.; Mr. George Gould, £100; handed over by Canterbury Collegiate Union, £109 2s. 6d.; scrip transferred by owners, £175: total, £930 1s. 6d.

The total number of books at present in the Circulating Library is 20,623. The total number of books at present in the Reference Library is 13,820.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

RULES.

1. That the Library shall be open for the borrowing and returning of books every day except Sundays, Christmas Day, Good Friday, and General Holidays, from ten o'clock in the morning until nine in the evening.

2. That every Subscriber before being admitted to use the Library, shall sign an undertaking to observe and be bound by the rules of the Library.

3. That each Subscriber shall pay in advance 10s. per Annum, or 5s. per Half-year, or 2s. 6d. per Quarter; or a person may be allowed to subscribe to the Library for One Month on payment of Two Shillings as a Subscription, and Five Shillings as a deposit; the deposit to be returned at the end of the month.

4. When any Subscription is overdue, no book to be issued to the Subscriber in arrear.

5. In the event of any Subscriber being unable to attend, the representative to be some person capable of taking due care of the book or books that may be entrusted to him or her, and prepared to produce, if called upon to do so, the absent member's ticket or other satisfactory authority. The chief officer of the Library present to be the sole judge.

6. One Subscription to admit only one member.

7. Subscriptions not to be transferable.

8. That each Subscriber may have out of the Library one book, or three volumes of any work, and no more at the one time; except that all the volumes of a novel may be borrowed at the same time; but in these exceptional cases the whole must be returned by the expiration of the time allowed for one volume. That Subscribers residing ten miles or over from Christchurch be allowed the privilege of taking out two books at a time on one subscription.

9. That inclusive of the days of delivery and return, four days shall be allowed for reading any periodical; two weeks for any octavo, or any smaller volume, or for a novel; and three weeks for a quarto or folio volume; and that if on the day when a book ought to be returned the Library be not open, the next day shall be considered as the day for return.

10. Books not to be transferable.

11. No books or magazines to be issued to Subscribers until those that they have taken out have been returned.

12. Books returned not to be re-issued until after having been examined by the officials.

13. All books returned to be handed to the clerk at the desk.

14. Books cannot be changed twice on the same day.

15. That if a book be not returned at the due time, the Subscriber shall pay a fine of One Penny a day for the first week, and after that time Twopence a day for every day of his detaining the book; and if it be not returned within fourteen days, the Subscriber may be required to pay its value, or the value of the work of which it forms a part, in addition to the fines incurred; and in default of such payment the book or its value, or the value of the work of which it forms a part, and the fines may be recovered in a court of law. Any book that has been in the Library less than six months shall not be taken out a second time by the same person within one week after such book has been returned by him.

16. That if a book shall be written in or otherwise damaged, the Subscriber in whose hands the book was at the time, may be required to pay the value of the book, or to replace it, at the discretion of the Governing Body.

17. That until a Subscriber shall have paid all fines and moneys due by him on account of books detained, lost or damaged, he shall not be entitled to use the Circulating Library.

18. A Subscriber may bespeak a book by entering his name in "The Bespoken Book," kept for the purpose, and paying 3d. to the Librarian; such book to be kept for him 24 hours from the time of its return to the Library; all bespoken books to be taken in order of precedence.

19. No refreshments of any kind shall be allowed to be taken into the Library.

20. No children under ten years of age to be allowed to go to the Bookcases.

21. Subscribers are requested to leave in charge of the Officials all parcels, bags, etc.
